Ask to Host

Example 1

Hi ___! I'm reaching out to ask if you'd be open to hosting a little get together for me just one time and I'll get you some free stuff! It's really simple – just have a few friends over and we can do facials, or we can do a healthy happy hour.

After closing a new PC:

Now, one of the best perks as a PC is you get a free gift and 35-50% off your order just by hosting a get together!

Thanks for being a part of the group. I'm curious are you open to inviting friends to a private wellness group like this? You just send an invite (I make it) and they either click to join or not. It's so easy! You'll get a gift and they may win a prize...sound good?

Hi Marisa, I love that we connected. I am not sure if you have heard of Arbonne. I have been building my health and wellness business for almost 7 years and I am very passionate about sharing it with others. We do these really cool 15 minute socials, and I was curious if you would be open to inviting a hand full of your friends to one? As a host you can earn some free products. The social is really fun and interactive, we share the product philosophy, and the way we use our products. Again it's only a 15 minute commitment. Would you be open?
